Activities

Flip the Script

Pretend you are a cartoonist. Pick your favorite Whirl episode and draw some scenes from it, using cartoon panels with a different scene in each. Then add a twist! Change a drawing to show one of the characters making a different choice or decision from the one he or she makes in the episode. Then draw what would happen next!

Share:

How does this change affect the outcome? What does it say about the choices we make and our relationship with God?

Sketch a Space

In Whirl stories, the church building itself is like a character. We see lots of spaces: the worship space, gathering areas, classrooms, and grounds outside. Think of your church building. Draw a picture of your favorite room or space or place. Draw what you like about it.

Share:

Why is this space your favorite? How does it remind you of God and God's presence?

Walk the Talk

The idea of loving our neighbors is central to the Whirl stories—because it’s central to the Gospel! While “love thy neighbor” doesn’t have to be about loving our actual neighbors, it’s wonderful when it is. So how about giving it a “whirl”? Take a walk through your neighborhood—or your favorite neck of the woods—and think about the people whose homes you pass. Offer a silent prayer for them and ask, “What’s one way I can show this person or family love?” Maybe you can bake cookies. Maybe rake leaves or pull weeds. Maybe roll their garbage cans to the curb. As you walk, open your mind and spirit to the tangible ways to show some neighborly love.

Share:

Who is the first person that comes to mind who needs to be shown love? How might you show it?

Sticky-Note It

The Whirl kids ask great questions and offer great insights throughout The Whirl Story Bible—encouraging us to ask our own questions and pose our own observations. So why not add our own? Before you read the next story, grab a stack of sticky notes and a few pens, markers, or colored pencils. Pass them out to everyone reading. Each of you can create a character version of yourself with an empty thought bubble next to it. Then, as you read the story, everyone can take note of thoughts or questions. Fill in the thought bubbles when you’re done reading and stick your notes throughout the book and discuss!

Share:

What sparked the questions or thoughts? What do you notice about all the notes together?

Set the Stage

Bring the stories from The Whirl Story Bible to life by acting them out! Choose one of your favorite stories and then choose one person to be narrator and another (or others) to act it out. Before you start, talk through the setting a bit: What time of day is it? What is the weather like? Are you inside or outside? Perhaps choose a couple of props. Then imagine the people in the story. What are they thinking? Feeling? Doing? Choose one person to read the story and others to act it out.

Want to ramp it up a bit? Why not contact a local retirement community or nursing home and see if you can take your show on the road? Or invite friends and neighbors to watch?
